Poor People's Campaign: A National Call for Moral Revival
We are on the move.*

NON VIOLENT MORAL FUSION DIRECT ACTION CAMPAIGN

Beginning the day after Mother's Day, the PPC will launch 40 days of engaged witness to boldly challenge the four pillars of Poverty, Systemic Racism, the War Economy, and Ecological Devastation.

In order to build our community to be unified, prepared for direct action, and truly grounded in the PPC, we will be holding Non Violent Civil Disobedience trainings through the spring with the first one Saturday April 14th from 1-5:30 in Springfield MA. The April 14th training which is being held simultaneously in 39 other states will include a live link with Rev. Barber

SAVE THE DATE. SIGN UP Here: Please be sure to register if you will be participating in the 40 days of non-violent moral fusion direct action and/or want to support the civil disobedience.

Attending a training is necessary for anyone considering engaging in civil disobedience even if you have prior training and experience and will be very helpful to those who want to support these actions. It will be an opportunity for sharing the principles and goals of the campaign, understanding what is involved, practicing the courage and calm to be part of an action, and becoming part of an "affinity" group with others who will participate. There will be an additional short training the day before or the day of each specific action you are part of with last minute details.

Some of us have just returned from 4 days of training and inspiration in Nashville with representatives from 40 other states (41 including DC) where we saw live the momentum and the vision behind this campaign for change and the plan for building a movement to turn the country around including civil disobedience. As we were told, this is not a commemoration of Dr. King's Poor People's Campaign, but a continuation and present day inspiration of it.

As you know, the Poor People's Campaign is deeply rooted in nonviolent direct action - using our bodies to deliver our message of justice- and firmly believes in the power of active witness to break through the daily political discourse.
